BEARERS OF THE WORD

The Church has placed a number of notable feast days immediately after Christmas. The feasts of Stephen, John the Evangelist, and the Holy Innocents form a summary of the life lived in Christ, the Word made flesh. What do these have to do with the feast of the Holy Family, which crowns the Octave of Christmas? These feasts remind us that suffering will occur in fulfilling the mission of Christ, and that we are all called to be bearers of this Word whose birth we celebrate.

We also see this manifested in the lives of Joseph and Mary, both of whom took social and religious risks in obedience to the will of God, and both of whom were open to the word of God sent to them from on high. In these ways they prefigured the life of Jesus himself. Most likely, few of us found ourselves at Mass this past Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, but the essence of these feasts and the essence of the holiness of Joseph, Mary, and Jesus remain central, a holiness we celebrate today.

Today's Good News ~ Living with Christ

Anna, eighty-four years young, had all too few years of married life—only seven—and then almost ten times that in widowhood. Her's was a life of prayer and presence until the moment she was prepared for: giving prophetic acknowledgment to the longed-for Messiah. A short time ago I was asked by a retreatant where I got my contemplative vocation. I realized I discovered something of the beauty of contemplation sitting in church next to my grandmother when I was still a fairly young lad. She was a woman of prayer, at home and in church. Daily Mass was her practice along with many other things. For fasting, she had a rule she abided by: always leave the table a little hungry. We may be in our eighties but we still, by simple presence and quiet action more than by what we say, engender life in the Church and especially among our grandchildren. Lord, I lift up my head. Grant that, right to the end, I live a life that is life-giving, a prophetic witness like Anna's. FR. M. BASIL PENNINGTON, OCSO
